MRS. HENRY H. WILLIAMS
HONORS MRS. FANNY
ZEAVE

Mrs. Fanny Zeave was the honor guest at a very beautifully appointed and charmingly arranged bridge tea on Tuesday afternoon. The bridge players were seated at 14 tables while the library was used for the guests who brought their sewing and enjoyed a contest entitled "A Book of Stitches," which was very clever and entertaining. Great baskets of pale pink and creamy white hibiscus ornamented the rooms and lanais. Very dainty ices were served and then a jolly social hour enjoyed.

For those scoring highest Mrs. Williams had three prizes, each a half dozen very dainty and beautiful tat-ted dollies and they were given to Mrs. James Bicknell, Mrs. S. McKeague and Mrs. A. S. Prescott. The consolation gift was a half dozen dollies with a crocheted edge and they went to Mrs. A. S. Wright. The contest, "A Book of Stitches," had two prizes, a first, which was won by Mrs. W. O. Larimer, and the consolation gift was a pair of slumber socks.

Mrs. Zeave, the honor guest, was given a half dozen of exquisite hand made handkerchiefs. Each gift was the handwork of the hostess, therefore the prizes were doubly appreciated.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO NAVY FOLKS HERE.

MARE ISLAND, Aug. 25.—The members of the marine colony were badly frightened last Wednesday evening, when the large barn in the vicinity of the hospital and cantonment camp caught fire and burned to the ground. For a time it looked as though the officers' quarters at the marine barracks would be burned, but heroic work on the part of the fire department and the enlisted men, under the direction of the station officials, saved the yard from a disastrous conflagration.

Mrs. M. H. Simmons, Jr., who has been making her home at Coronado, is passing a few days at the home of Mrs. R. K. von Mater on Mare Island.

Mrs. Woodward and Miss Edith Woodward have returned to their home on Mare Island after a week's visit to southern California.

Tomorrow Mrs. J. F. Fleming, wife of Chaplain Fleming of the local naval station, will be featured in a concert to be rendered at the naval Y. M. C. A. home in Vallejo for the benefit of the enlisted men of this yard. Mrs. Fleming is a violinist of note, and she will render "Kajinwaki," "By the Brook" and a mazurka. It is expected that many of her friends from the navy yard will attend the concert.

his life for his country.

The Mare Island Red Cross chapter is busy at work on hospital supplies and is preparing for an entertainment, which is to be held at one of the cantonment halls in the near future. The chapter is one of the busiest organizations on the navy yard, and nearly every woman on the island is an active member, believing that every bandage that may be sent to France may help to save the life of a sailor or soldier.—San Francisco Chronicle, August 26.

"ROSE LEAVES" GO ON CRUISE.

The "Rose Leaves" were taken on their annual outing last Sunday by Charles Rollo Peters, who entertained this novel organization with a trip about the bay, stopping at Sausalito to pay the usual tribute of respect to the memorial seat erected in memory of the late Dan O'Connell, founder of the "Rose Leaves."

The group of men who comprise this club are members of the Bohemian Club; they were organized more than thirty years ago by Daniel O'Connell. Every year the members make a yachting trip about the bay. Peters' guests included: Leonard Chenery, Clifford Cook, Paymaster Walter Izard, Edward N. Greenway, Andrew McCarthy, Bush Fennell, Porter Ashe, Arthur Cahill, Francis Brugliere, Col. Guy Edie and Harry Lamberton.—San Francisco Chronicle, August 26.

POPULAR GIRL HOSTESS AT INFORMAL LUNCHEON AT THE ST. FRANCIS.

An informal luncheon was enjoyed Monday at the St. Francis hotel, where Miss Marion Zeile entertained a coterie of her friends. It was one of those informal, spur-of-the-moment parties that are a fad of the season, and that are an invariable result of two or three friends meeting during the busy hours of Red Cross work or the equally busy hours of shopping. Mesdames Charles B. Alexander, William G. Irwin, Charles Templeton Crocker, Richard Hammond and Julian Thorne shared in the pleasure of the luncheon as guests of Miss Zeile.

THE WEDNESDAY CARD CLUB. The Wednesday Card Club met at the home of Mrs. E. A. Jacobson with Mrs. M. L. Simon as hostess. The gift from the club for the fortunate winner was a plate and this was won by Mrs. E. A. Jacobson. Those playing were Mrs. S. W. Smith, Mrs. Meacock, Miss Janet Dewar, Mrs. James Bicknell, Mrs. G. L. Sampson, Mrs. Henry H. Williams, Mrs. E. A. Jacobson, and Mrs. J. Lando.
